CC:	Naomi Markowitz, James Tien
Subject:	Japan trip
Date:	October 2
Good morning, Susanna. James, Naomi, and I will be in Tokyo for business from November 10 through 13. Could you please reserve a flight and hotel rooms for us? We will need to be close to the Tokyo headquarters of Satake Motors; additionally, the hotel should have a business center, wireless Internet, an exercise room, and same-day dry cleaning. Also, could you please make arrangements for us to visit the city of Kamakura? Since we would like to be there when the weather is pleasant, you may want to postpone finalizing these details until the latest date possible. Our agenda is flexible, so this last-minute arrangement shouldn't be too troublesome to manage. Please keep in mind, though, that there are two appointments that cannot be rescheduled: the afternoon meeting with Ms. Takahashi and her team on November 10 and the all-day tour on November 11. If you require more information, please let me know. Thank you in advance for your help. Vincent Emmerich Major Accounts Director Intime Strategic Marketing

Questions 186-190 refer to the following memo and list.

MEMO

Date: January 17
 From: Nela Potter
 To: Marketing staff

Please review the attached best seller list from today's Silverton Daily. Though Mark Shipley's book is now on the list, remember that we released it only on January 2. There is still an opportunity for sales to increase. How can we guarantee that this happens?

The list clearly illustrates that health and wellness titles are good sellers. Our competitors, such as Wayland and Brownback, have been thriving. I attribute their success to aggressive marketing tactics. Consider how Wayland has been extensively promoting Jenna Wyatt's book!

So, for our next scheduled meeting, I would like each of you to present your own original ideas for generating more publicity for our current and future projects.

Nonfiction Best-selling List: Week of January 8-14
Current ranking	Title	Ranking last night
1	Your Best Fitness Plan , by Jenna Wyatt (Wayland Books, $9.95). A guide to proper exercise and fitness.	4
2	Green Eats , by Dr. Malcolm Chen (Brownback Guides, $12.50). A witty guide about how to incorporate more vegetables in your diet.	1
3	The Pharaohs' Lives , by Alyssa Karl (In the Past Press, $25.00). Startling discoveries about the lifestyles of ancient Egyptian rulers.	2
4	Small Business, Big World , by Hiroko Inoue (Senyth Publishers, $19.50). In her first publication, founder and CEO of Starwise Clothing gives financial and Management advice.	5
5	The Olympian's Cookbook , by Olga Koussevitsky (Wayland Books, $30.50). World gymnastics champion offers recipes to boost energy and well-being.	6
6	Rhythm Kings , by Simon Morrison (Melodie Press, $27.45). Covers the major developments in World jazz music.	3
7	The Practical Diet , by Mark Shipley (Greenhouse Publishing, $27.50). A well-known nutritionist shows how to lose weight through a sensible diet and exercise plan.	--

186. What is the purpose of Ms. Potter's memo?

Questions 191-195 refer to the following article and e-mail.

BRISTOL, 8 November - When Eximion Technology announced last year that it would release the C-Nix LD500 on 7 November, loyal customers began waiting anxiously for the computer's debut. The day that C-Nix computer fans had been waiting for finally arrived yesterday, with an additional piece of good news for those fans living in Bristol: the opening of the very first Eximion Computer Store (ECOMPS) in the city.

Bristol's ECOMPS patrons were not the only ones brimming 充滿 with enthusiasm.

Store owners in the business district warmly welcomed Connie Hyun, the manager of the newly opened store, to the area. Like other retailers and entrepreneurs in the vicinity 附近區域 of the new ECOMPS location,

Ronald Grayson hopes to benefit from the presence of his new neighbor. "C-Nix computers are in high demand," said Mr. Grayson. "So I expect a lot of people to visit this ECOMPS location. I hope that they will then stop by my establishment to enjoy a delicious and reasonably priced meal."

Ms. Hyun was born in South Korea but grew up and was educated in London. For the past five years, she has managed an ECOMPS in Manchester. She says she is pleased to call Bristol home for the foreseeable future. "It is a wonderful city, and it is so gratifying to see how customers and area businesspeople alike are embracing the new store."

Dear Ms. Hyun:
I hope my article in today's issue of The Bristol Daily Courier about the ECOMPS opening was to your satisfaction. Just in case you missed the piece, though, I have attached to this e-mail.
On the phone last Monday, you noted that you would be available for a more extensive interview in person. At a date and time next week that is convenient for you, I'd like to go forward with this interview, which will be published in the Courier's weekly magazine. The only day I am not available is 15 November. As a matter of fact, on that day I will be meeting with some of your former colleagues at the store you last supervised!
I very much look forward to seeing you soon.
Warm regards,
